INTRODUCTION

The NSPDK e-Learning Academy has been designed to focus on teaching and learning in three phases. PHASE I – Resources...offers a wide variety of free on-line electronic links to connect learners to skills, subjects, and tools which will be used to access specific learning needs. PHASE II – Webinars....will present online training on how-to use technology platforms to teach students and present vibrant lessons by incorporating new online programs. PHASE III – Demonstration Lessons....will feature master teachers presenting online lessons that incorporate various Webinar techniques into student lessons.

Each resource takes students directly to the sites for grade specific skills and specific subjects or courses. The links are not specific to a designated State's Board of Education Standards. The links are specific to skills for various levels of learners: early learner, middle school, high school, college, or adult learner, Experienced K-12 educators, including college and university instructors, throughout the United States have used these resources successfully in their classrooms with individual students, and classrooms, and small or large student groups.

Educators and parents who visit this website are encouraged to explore the links identified for each grade level, review the educational material identified according to learning styles, and recommend the appropriate links for or to students with various need. This NSPDK e-Learning Academy may be used in assistance with individual or small group tutorial sessions, afterschool programs, and help students acquire additional skill building.

It is my pleasure to welcome teachers to the newly established professional development program appendage of the National Sorority of Phi Delta Kappa, Inc. The members are extremely excited to present to the public this online web-based resource, the NSPDK e-Learning Academy, designed to offer education professionals, parents, and students quick and easy web-based access to learning skills for a wide continuum of learners.

The NSPDK e-Learning Academy was created out of a specific need developed during the outbreak of the Coronavirus pandemic in March 2020. For the first time in the history of public education all states have closed at least one school in order to prevent the spread of the virus. Sixty percent of the nation's public schools remain closed two months later and will not reopen during this traditional school year. Although the NSPDK e-Learning Academy was an outgrowth of a need during the pandemic it is projected that e-Learning is here to stay. This is the beginning of full integration of e-Learning into all of education from hence forth.

Thank teachers to all of the members of the professional development committee of the National Sorority of Phi Delta Kappa, Inc. and those who will voluntarily contribute in the future to this most critical educational resource.

The e-Learning Academy was created by the professional development committee of the National Sorority of Phi Delta Kappa, Inc. during the CoronaVirus Pandemic. For the first time in the history of public education, schools were closed to prevent the spread of the virus.

The committee was charged with the task of gathering web-based resources for teachers to use for remote learning. The resources are provided for grades Pre-K – college. The committee wanted to be inclusive of all students, therefore, Special Education resources, African American Resources and Cultural Relevant Resources are included. The programs can also be used by teachers and parents to help their students stay on track with their education.

In the past few years, the e-Learning Academy has evolved into a resource site, with pre-recorded videos of professional development and a Town Hall Series to hear from educators. The Town Hall Series, presented on relevant topics for educators, who have experienced drastic changes in the performance of their students and the workplace. They have new technology and terminology, such as remote learning and hybrid learning. The Common Collaborative Conversations addressed the issues of the mental wellbeing of staff, students and parents, the state of education and Critical Race Theory. They were wonderful presentations!

The committee is looking forward to another series of Town Hall meetings and the introduction of podcasts. Stay tuned for a new year of invigorating conversations.

Welcome! NSPDK e-Learning Academy

It is with great excitement that I introduce teachers to the NSPDK e-Learning Academy Resource. Each time we open our mail, be it snail or e-mail, we are bombarded with new platform and tool notifications. They invite us to try different strategies to better meet the needs of our students. How nice it would be to have resources housed in one place, so we can visit, explore, and make decisions about educating our students, with distant education, in a timely manner.

NSPDK e-Learning Academy will serve as a resource to help us navigate the waters that are new to some of us and make the navigation easier for accomplished users. We are being asked to rethink our methods and use new strategies that engage our students, as they participate in distance education and e-Learning settings. We must not fail; this resource will be a great benefit in the task that is before us.

I encourage teachers to interact with the document as teachers will surely find tools to help teachers as teachers plan and implement lessons. We know not what our educational systems will look like as we move forward to the next few months, but we do know our job duties have shifted to a new and exciting norm. In many cases it will involve teaching learners from a distance. The NSPDK e-Learning Academy will serve teachers well, as teachers tasks become inclusive of so many new methods and platforms. As facilitators of distance education, we will surely continue to prepare our students for the world they must manipulate, even as they become efficient with the new resources.

I am a kindergarten teacher from Gary, Indiana. I am a member of the Beta Mu Chapter, where Onitta Parker is my Basileus. In Beta Mu chapter I currently serve as chapter Tamiouchos and work on several committees and projects. Although teaching and learning during the next school year is uncertain for all educators at this time, I am assured that it will include e-Learning. For this reason, the launching of the NSPDK e-Learning Academy makes me extremely happy because this resource will be available to guide teachers, parents, and students.

Warmest regards,

Nora A. Robbs, MPA
